

Fundraising Ideas

Grill'd

Bamboozled have partnered up with Grill'd to help raise extra funds for Local Matters Groups. Bringing their years of experience in quizzing and fundraising to the table, they've put together a special fundraising quiz for local matters groups. Held at your local Grill'd, it's the perfect opportunity to rally the community to raise some extra money over their brainbusting quiz, while getting stuck into the finest burgers in town. Speak to the manager of your local Grill'd store to see if they might be able to host a Quiz Night for you.

Domino's Doughraiser

Pop into your local Domino's Pizza store and speak with the franchisee manager about hosting a Doughraiser. Domino's are passionate about doing the right thing because it's the right thing to do. Many of their stores across Australia show their support for community causes by hosting 'Doughraisers' – Domino's version of a fundraiser for local charities, community groups, sporting clubs, hospitals, individuals/families in need, and more. Thanks to the generosity of Domino's franchisees, a certain amount from every pizza sold during a Doughraiser is donated to this local cause.

If you would like to organise a Doughraiser, reach out to your local Domino's store. To find your nearest store, please visit: <https://www.dominos.com.au/store-finder>.

If successful in organising a Doughraiser make sure to heavily promote the Doughraiser amongst your networks.

Local Suppliers

When sourcing supplies for your fundraiser it is always a good idea to chat to the manager of your local Coles, Woolworths, IGA, Spudshed, Bakers Delight, butchers, greengrocer to see if they might be able to offer support. Local businesses may offer you free produce or discounted groceries. Some local supermarkets also offer $50 gift cards which may help offset the cost of your shop. It's always worth asking.

When planning your fundraiser reach out to the Fundraising Team at Youth Focus at admin@rideforyouth.com.au so they can provide you with a Letter of Authority to Fundraise which will support you when asking for support from local businesses.

Keep an eye out for other businesses making fundraising easy.
